

Abstract

A device for correcting defective vision or corneal disease of an eye combines a device (16) for deforming the cornea of the eye and a device (18, 20) for hardening the cornea.